

FIDDLE MITTENS

A plea; whilst these are much appreciated by the local hospitals and care homes , I have been asked to remind you to ensure that all attachments are securely fixed, no long loose hangings especially with beads etc on the ends (these can cause injury if swung around), and no frightening “monsters” hidden inside. The idea of them is to offer people with dementia a safe comforting item to distract then from pulling and fiddling with medical devices, and to offer gentle sensory stimulation. This applies to the mats, and blankets too.
